

rumors who were with Rose at the Garden, but that Vallon and Weber were with him. He swears that he heard Rose say to Vallon and Weber: "There he goes (referring to Rose). Now is the time to put it over."

"But this witness goes further than that. He swears that just after Herman Rosenthal was shot he was leaving the Elks Club, on the south side of Forty-third street, near Sixth avenue. He saw the gray murder car pass him going east, driven by Shapiro, whom he had known for years. Sam Schepps was on the running board. Weber and Vallon were in the car. He didn't see Rose.

"As soon as we can prepare our papers we are going to apply to a Supreme Court Justice in his home—there are no courts in session to-day—for a stay of execution on the strength of this and other new evidence.

The other new evidence is an affidavit by Fred Reo, establishing an alibi for Frank Cirofici and the note written last August by Frank Moss, then an Assistant District Attorney, to Gov. Sulzer, in which he said: "Be careful of anything from Luban and Margolies."

"We maintain that in this note Mr. Moss discredited Luban, the witness who swore away the lives of those four boys. This alone should compel the Governor to grant a reprieve, bulkwark as it is by our affidavits. I don't see how he can let the boys go to the chair.

WILL MAKE DEMAND TO BE HEARD BY GLYN.

"We shall make a double attempt to save the men in the Sing Sing death house. We shall go to the Governor again and we shall go to the Supreme Court. We shall insist that the Governor give us the same opportunity to be heard that he gave Assistant District Attorney Delehanty yesterday.

"If the Governor is going to take the decision of the Court of Appeals as his only guidance, then his constitutional power to reprieve, commute or pardon is dead. He should have been advised by his legal staff that it was the intent of the framers of the constitution to give him power in cases where the courts found themselves tied by the narrow rules of evidence. This note brings up such a situation and we believe the Governor will act if the situation is presented to him in its true light. The Governor should and must step in to prevent man-made technical rules of the code to work out an injustice.

"As for Luban, Justice Miller, in the decision in the Becker case, spoke of Luban's established perjury. Now comes the revelation that even Mr. Moss didn't believe Luban could tell the truth. Surely this calls for action by the Governor or the courts."

Former Assistant District Attorney Moss admits writing the note to Gov. Sulzer, but denies that it has any bearing on the Rosenthal cases. It appears that some overzealous friends of Sulzer were trying to use Luban and Margolies in an effort to discredit Senator Frawley by swearing Frawley had tried to buy them in the murder trials. Margolies was aware of the scheme and was ready to have Luban and Margolies jailed for perjury. Sulzer telephoned to Mr. Moss asking him about the men and the note was Mr. Moss's reply. Mr. Moss had heard the men had been trying to use his name in the affair, and didn't propose to permit it.

Mr. Moss said to-day he and the District Attorney satisfied themselves the men were telling the truth before they put them on the stand in the Rosenthal cases. He added:

"I repeat that the note had absolutely no bearing upon their testimony in the murder trials. Margolies was not a witness against the gunmen. Luban was. All I wanted to do was to warn Sulzer and any others interested that if these men claimed to be my agents they had better be put to the acid test before reliance was placed on their claims."

Family Urges "Dago Frank" To Tell of Murder Plot

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
OSHING, April 10.—The possibility that three of the gunmen in the death house in Sing Sing who are scheduled to die in the electric chair at dawn Monday contemplate a confession of the crime for which they are to pay the penalty became most unlikely to-day.

Rabbi Goldstein, who, as the Jewish chaplain of the prison, has been for sixteen months the spiritual adviser of Jacob Seldenhauer ("Whitey Lewis"), Louis Rosenberg ("Lefty Lewis") and Harry Horowitz ("Gyp the Blood") worked on the three with all the earnestness of his high-strung emotional and religious fervor late yesterday, urging them to a public confession of their guilt. If they were indeed guilty. With a responsive earnestness, which convinced him of the steadfastness of their purpose, all three said that they had nothing to tell different from their sworn testimony at their trial.

With "Dago Frank" Cirofici things are a little different. A great religious change has enveloped him within the last few days. Without reflecting in the least on the kindness and devotion of the Episcopal chaplain, the Rev. Burton H. Lee, Cirofici has been moved to declare his allegiance to the faith in which he was first baptized. For two days he has turned to the Rev. Father Cahlin, the Roman Catholic chaplain, for religious consolation, and has asked to receive his absolution and last communion from the priest.

IN MOOD TO LISTEN TO PLEADS OF RELATIVES.

In this mood his mother and sister have found him listening eagerly to them and their counsels, to which he has before this been indifferent. The mother and sister visited him for an hour yesterday. The sister came to tell him of their final plan for some more appeal to the Governor. It is barely possible that he may give them for the Governor a more complete story than he has yet told of his connection with the events immediately before the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

There is in the air here a story that Frank's part in the assassination was the bringing of the revolvers from an uptown rendezvous of the gang to Bridge Street's place, after the custom of such crews of gun-fighters, and that he went back to Harlem before the shooting began at the Metropole. This story would make Cirofici no less an accomplice than if he had taken part in the shooting. But if it were convincing and supported by reputable evidence it would throw grave doubt on the truthfulness of the witnesses by whose testimony the four men were convicted. It will not be known until after the consultation between the Cirofici brothers and sister just what the plan is which has obviously given them so much comfort and renewed hope at their very darkest moment.

But the other three are certainly not to change. Dr. Goldstein spoke to them, his voice shaken with feeling, standing with his back against the narrow door through which they are to go from their cells to the death chamber. The young men pressed close to the bars, listening.

PLEADS WITH THE THREE TO TELL THE TRUTH.

"I come to you now for a last appeal," he said. "I shall not be here again until Sunday, and I shall come then only to comfort you. But I speak to you now, not as your spiritual adviser, but as a friend who has learned to love you, no matter what wrong you may have done. I am older than you. I have done wrong myself. I have often been weak. I have not been as far astray as you. It may be that I have never tempted you as much as you have often tempted me. I beg of you, for the peace of your souls, not to go before your God with a lie hidden in your hearts. The Universal Soul which is beyond and above us all is Truth, and only Truth. You cannot be united with your God unless you are truthful.

"For your own good, for the peace of mind of your fathers and mothers, your sisters and wives, let the truth be known. You must die. After all, that is not the worst which can happen. It is the common end. You can at least die true and not liars. Now, what have you to say to me?"

Rosenberg, always the most sensitive to an appeal to his feelings, was the first to speak. Instead of a confession he said fervently:

"I want the world to know that I am innocent of this crime, that I am paying the price of a bad reputation. I had the best father and mother a boy ever had, but I was not a good son to them. I went the wrong way."

"Tell the boys on the east side, the boys I know, there are hundreds of them—the boys who go around raising—well, you know what I mean, tell them about the mistakes I made, which I could have avoided if I had done the right thing. Let them know that the synagogue is their best home and God their best friend."

"They may think they are getting away with it; they may think they are too strong, too well protected to be reached. They may think they have the backing which puts them above the law, but they are making the mistake of their lives, as I made the mistake for which I am paying my life. When the showdown comes and they are accused of something they never did, all this other life will be brought up against them and they will have to pay, just as I am, for something they never did."

Seldenhauer followed with a tribute to the goodness of his parents and his loyalty to him through the sorrow and disgrace he had brought upon them.

Horowitz tried to speak and then sat down, covering his face with his hands. He reached out and grasped Dr. Goldstein's hand after a moment and murmured: "There is nothing more to say."

The sentiment about the prison is a well defined belief that they may not go to their death on Monday, despite the rapid completion of preparations. REPRIEVE OF ONE MIGHT MEAN DELAY FOR ALL.

In explanation of this belief, it is said that if Warden Clancy is convinced that developments in "Dago Frank's" case justify a hope of his escaping execution, he will not take the men to the chair until the last of next week. The law makes it optional with him on what day of the week they die, and it is believed that if he postponed "Dago Frank's" execution he would postpone the others.

The only visitors to the condemned men up to 2 o'clock this afternoon were the chaplains of the prison, Dr. Goldstein, Rev. Dr. Lee and Father Cahlin. Although "Dago Frank" has deserted Dr. Lee's religion and embraced the faith of his father, Dr. Lee to-day that he thought as much of him as ever and asked him to read the Lord's Prayer.

"Gyp the Blood" was the most talkative of the four today. One of his remarks to Dr. Lee was: "Our position here shows that a man is not known by the company he keeps, but by the company he keeps out of." The clergyman said he didn't know what "Gyp" meant, but "Gyp" appeared to think he had made quite a philosophical observation.

NEW EVIDENCE FAILS TO REACH GOVERNOR.

ALBANY, April 10.—Assistant District Attorney James A. Delehanty of New York was at the Executive Chamber early to-day, prepared to go into the Supreme Court with Rabbi Browne and have him testify under oath as to the note written by Frank Moss. John G. Saxo, legal adviser to the Governor, also was present to be of any possible assistance. Browne, however, did not appear today, and the note was not presented to the Governor.

Neither had the memorandum of the gunmen's counsel, C. G. F. Wahl, reached the Governor at noon to-day.

BRITISH DENY ANY RECOGNITION OF REBELS.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Reports from El Paso that the British Government had in effect recognized the Constitutionalists through negotiations now in progress between British consular agents and members of Carranza's Cabinet were denied at the British embassy to-day. Viscount Campton, the British attaché, said these stories originated through unofficial negotiations by British consular representatives with Carranza's Foreign Minister. He pointed out that it would be impossible for Great Britain to recognize Carranza, it having already recognized Huerta as the provisional president of Mexico.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, was closeted with Secretary Bryan for more than an hour to-day. The admitted object of his visit was an exchange of the arbitration treaty recently extended for five years between this government and Great Britain. It is understood, however, that the entire Mexican situation was also gone into.

Secretary Bryan denied afterward that he had received any information that Spain had requested Great Britain to act for it in Mexico and especially at Tampico.

TWO MEXICANS SHOT STANDING ON BRINK OF OPEN GRAVES.

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, April 10.—Standing blindfolded on the brink of their open graves, Francisco Fimbres and Jose M. Ganoza, members of a Huerta Junta on the American side of the line, were executed in the cemetery to-day. Fimbres was captured several days ago while carrying a message from the Junta to Ganoza, who was then at Montemorelos.

REBELS PUSH FIGHTING.

Forcing Way to City Now Menaced by Fire—American Women and Children Safe.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Desperate fighting continues in and about Tampico, according to State and Navy Department despatches to-day. The Carranza Constitutionalist forces are assaulting the Federals all along the line in an effort to capture the seaport.

Rules of civilized warfare are being violated, according to despatches from Admiral Mayo, transmitted through Admiral Fletcher at Vera Cruz. Two women are reported to have been hanged by the Federal commander at Tampico. Their offense is alleged to have been an attempt to release Constitutionalists prisoners held in the bull pen. A Constitutional officer is reported to have been hanged for the sole offense of having bullets in his possession.

Several of the oil tanks that line the river beyond the city have been shattered by cannon and rifle fire. One is on fire and others are threatened with flames. The oil is running into the river and down toward the harbor mouth. Danger of it catching fire and thus causing a conflagration of the wharves and among the shipping is admittedly very grave.

No word has yet been received by the State or Navy Department confirming a report that Admiral Mayo had ordered the Federal gunboats to stop firing toward the city on pain of being sunk by shells from American warships.

Women and children are crowding the cruiser Des Moines, while others are refugees on board the German tank ship Osage.

Under the direction of Admiral Mayo, all of the American women and children have been brought up from the oil plants along the river below the city to a point where they can be quickly rescued if necessary. Some of those at La Barra refused to leave that vicinity. "They are the ones who have taken refuge on the Osage."

None of the foreigners in the threatened territory desire to leave Tampico. The fighting at Tampico was described as heavy, with the rebels in possession of Dona Cecilia and Arbol Grande.

Rear-Admiral Fletcher reported that Rear-Admiral Mayo had delivered an order lecture to Gen. Zaragoza about the shots fired into the Pierce Oil plant from Federal gunboats. Grave fears are felt here that there may be wholesale destruction of the properties.

JUAREZ, April 10.—That desperate fighting has been in progress for several days at San Pedro de Colonias, between the rebel forces commanded by Generals Benavides, Ortega and Hernandez and the Federal troops of Gen. Mas and Gen. de Moura was the substance of an official report made to-day to Gen. Carranza by Gen. Villa.

Villa's despatch stated that the Federals were completely surrounded by the Constitutionalists hoped to exhaust their ammunition and capture them.

The despatch added that all railway lines in the vicinity of San Pedro de Colonias had been cut thereby preventing any reinforcements reaching the Federal army from the direction of Saltillo.

BATTLE BY LIGHT OF FLAMING OIL TANKS.

MATAMORAS, Mex., April 10.—Desperate fighting around Tampico through the night made possible by the light of the flaming oil tanks, was reported in latest despatches from the battle city. Wire communication was cut off at midnight without any explanation. Since that time no word has come from Tampico.

The midnight despatches said that many large steel oil storage tanks belonging to the Lord Cowdray syndicate and to American interests were undoubtedly caused by bursting shells from the Federal gunboats Vera Cruz and Zaragoza. The refinery of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company was badly damaged. Property losses of foreigners already run into millions.

Many Americans and other foreigners are gathered in the six-story steel and concrete office building of 8 "Pearson & Son," Ltd., and others in the Southern Hotel.

Despatches received here do not indicate that the rebels have succeeded in making their way into the city. Most of the damage to property was done by the poor marksmanship of the gunboats. The rebels are making desperate efforts to block the entrance of Tames River and capture the gunboats.

case proved successful. The operations were performed on animals last October and November. These animals are now entirely normal."

TELLS OF TAKING STITCHES IN HEART OF BOY.

Prof. Robert Proust of Paris, speaking in French, told of an operation he had performed on a thirteen-year-old boy who had been shot through the lower part of the heart. Dr. Proust said the bullet had passed through the heart and lodged in the pericardium still, touching the heart itself.

He opened the pericardium, extracted the bullet and took one stitch in the heart. It partly stopped the flow of blood, which had forced him to work blindly, and he was enabled to take three more stitches. Then he sutured up all but a small opening in the pericardium and kept the boy in the hospital for a month. At the end of that time he was discharged, as cured and to-day four years later, Prof. Proust said, he was in good health and working as a messenger boy.

Other papers were read by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, Dr. Fred T. Murphy of St. Louis, Dr. James G. Mumford, Dr. George E. Armstrong of Montreal, Dr. Charles L. Scudder of Boston, Dr. Howard Littlehall of New York, Dr. Samuel Robinson of Chilton Springs, N. Y., and Dr. Willy Meyer of New York.

BRITISH PLEA TAKEN AS RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA REBELS.

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 10.—Constitutionalist officials are elated to-day over the visit yesterday of British Consul Homan C. Myles of El Paso to Gen. Carranza to ask protection of the Constitutionalists for British properties in Tampico, presumably the Lord Cowdray Oil Wells and certain British mines in Sinaloa.

As this is the first time that British representatives have dealt directly with the Constitutional government, the visit is regarded as a recognition of Carranza by Great Britain.

The protection asked by Consul Myles was promptly promised by the Constitutional officials.

BERLIN STATUES HACKED.

That of Frederick the Great Among Those Mutilated.

BERLIN, April 10.—Four of the statues in the celebrated Avenue of Victory in the Tiergarten were slightly mutilated during the night, among them that of Frederick the Great. In each case the heads of the eagles surrounding the pedestals were broken off.

Antoine Arlier, a retired staff sergeant of the French navy, was arrested by the police on suspicion of having committed the outrage. The police physician examining the injured statue declared that he was undoubtedly insane.

NEWS FROM THE COLONEL.

MANAOS, Brazil, April 10.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is expected to reach Manaus on April 27 from his explorations in the interior. He will form a junction here with the members of the various expeditions which he has sent out. It is understood that the collection of specimens will number 1,000 or more. A Brazilian officer attached to the expedition arrived here to-day from Calama, where the other members of his party remain.

MISS HOLLINS PUT AT HEAD OF ALL WOMEN GOLFERS

Important Changes Made in New Ratings of the Metropolitan Association.

MISS HYDE AT SCRATCH.

Most Surprises Come in the Third Division—Many Handicaps Reduced.

Leaders have been completely shifted about in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association's 1914 handicap list, issued last night. Miss Marion Hollins of Westbrook, the metropolitan champion, who also was runner-up in the national championship at Wilmington last fall, is now ranked as plus 1, and Miss Lillian H. Hyde, of South Shore, former metropolitan title holder, is alone at scratch.

Mrs. Elizabeth Earle, of Englewood, the 1912 champion; Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, erstwhile holder of both the national and local titles, and Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of Baltusrol, are at 1.

In the list for 1913, Miss Hollins was rated at 3 and Mrs. Earle and Miss Hyde occupied the scratch position together. Developments of the season, however, caused the association completely to revise the handicap list so far as the leaders were concerned, so that a new order of things would be in effect in the fall.

On this list Miss Hollins has a rating of plus 3 and Miss Hyde plus 2. The scratch position was abolished. Under these circumstances Miss Hollins after first being advanced five strokes to a class by herself is now brought back two strokes, although she still occupies the honor alone. Mrs. Rogers's advance to the 1 division is two strokes off her allowance of last year.

There is a vast difference between the 3 division of 1913 and this year. Mrs. Florian Krug of Englewood and Mrs. Lawrence Swift of the same club remain there, but Mrs. A. S. Rossin of Century is a newcomer, along with Mrs. W. J. Faith of Wykagyl, reduced from 10 to 3.

Century, brought down from 8, and Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield, whose reduction is two strokes. Mrs. Percy Ingalls of Essex County is now at 4, whereas a year ago she had an allowance of 8. Mrs. William Chivers of Dunwoody, allowed 7 last spring, is also in the 4 division.

'TIME FOR MURPHY TO QUIT IS RIGHT NOW,' SAYS CROKER

for a good many years. I'm simply a farmer and stock breeder. But I am deeply interested, of course, in the great organization I gave so much of my life to. Tammany should not be destroyed. New men should be brought in to build it up. It has a great history and should have a great future. In spite of what the Republicans say it is full of good men.

"Murphy must see that he has ruined Tammany's chances and that his name stands in the way of success."

"All this business of Tammany trying to run the whole State of New York is nonsense," he said. "Tammany has enough to do in the city. It is foolishness to send Tammany men up the State to hold offices and mix in outside politics when the organization needs them at home."

"If Murphy had had good sense he would have left up-State politics to up-State men."

"When I was leader we had no idea of running the whole State."

Mr. Croker is now seventy-three, with snow-white hair, and is hale and vigorous.

MURPHY AGAIN SAYS:

"I AM BOSS AND I AM GOING TO STAY BOSS."

Charles F. Murphy was shown the Croker interview at his home this afternoon. After reading it he said: "I have answered this all before. There is nothing new in it that I can see. I am the leader of Tammany Hall and I am going to remain leader of Tammany Hall."

"Do you feel that the elections of last Tuesday in New Jersey and Massachusetts are indicative of a change of attitude toward the national administration?" Mr. Murphy was asked.

"Well," he replied, slowly, "I think the people are beginning to understand things. That is an additional reason why I am going to remain at the head of the organization."

WOMAN IN AUTO SMASH.

Two Hurt in Collision With Truck Refuse Hospital Aid.

Although badly shaken up and bruised, Mrs. J. C. Clark of Dongan Hills, S. L., and Miss Elizabeth McCauley of No. 169 West Fifty-eighth street, refused to-day to be taken to a hospital after having been thrown from Mrs. Clark's automobile, which was in collision with an auto truck at Park avenue and Forty-sixth street.

Jerry Keating, chauffeur for Mrs.

Clark, was driving the two women in an uptown theatre, when a truck driven by Robert Wenden of No. 88 West Forty-seventh street turned into Park avenue, heading did not see the truck, and nearly overturned it.

Patroness Nickerson of the Third Traffic Precinct found the two women lying head down on the street and offered to call an ambulance but they preferred to be driven to a nearby doctor's office.
